TransparentFX is a general purpose plug-in for Winamp 2.x. It gives the user full control of the transparency effect for Winamp windows. You can control the transparency on each of the four main windows: Main window, Equalizer, Playlist Editor and Minibrowser. It can change transparency depending on which state the window is in: active, mouseover, and inactive. Skin authors can also create custom settings for their skins to be used with TransparentFX. For the coding developers, there is a Winamp style API so that external applications can control the plugin. License: This software is distributed under the GNU GPL license version 2 or higher. What's New In?

TransparentFX is a full featured plugin for Winamp 2.x that extends the plugin's basic functionality to make transparency effects much more useful. TransparentFX's effects are fully customizable and can be adjusted based on the state of the window or window content. They can be used in both skins and games. The plugin is a mix of basic functionality and advanced options. Basic Functionality Transparent FX allows the user to control each of the four main windows for Winamp 2.x. The four main windows include: Main Window, Equalizer Window, Playlist Editor and Minibrowser. For each window, the user can control the following: Transparency when the window is active Transparency when the window is mouseover Transparency when the window is inactive Window Styles (WindowBackgroundColor and WindowBorderColor) Window Styles Window Background Window Border All windows except the Equalizer and Minibrowser support Window Styles. The Window Styles window can be accessed from the plugin's main window. The window is divided into two parts: the left side is for the current skin and the right side is for all other skins. The user can specify a color for the window, border, and background. Window Styles are designed to be customizable. A skin author should only use Window Styles to make their skins look uniform. The Window Styles feature is designed so that skin authors can create their own styles. When using the Window Styles window, the default colors are the following: Windows Window Background Window Border Main Window Dark Gray Black Dark Gray Equalizer Window Light Gray White Gray Playlist Editor Window Light Gray Black Gray Minibrowser Window Dark Gray Black Dark Gray All Windows except the Equalizer and Minibrowser support Window Styles. When working with a specific skin, the main window color is the following: Transparency when the window is active When the user activates the TransparentFX's TransparentFX Plugin, the window will be displayed as transparent. The opacity level can be set using a slider that is located under the transparent slider. This slider is global for the whole system and there is no need to change it again and again. To set the opacity, simply drag the slider to the left or right. Default values are 65 and 30 respectively for the left and right pane of the slider. Setting the level to 0 will turn the whole system transparent, to 100% the whole system will be opaque. You can also put a shortcut for your transparency level to the winamp keybindings. For example: Winamp keys | TransparentFX keys | TransparentFXs keybindings Trans
