Hannah Witheridge, who is from Winchester, is reported to have been held by the Palestinian gunmen for over four hours at a Lebanese beach after she made an apparently spur-of-the-moment decision to try and visit the country. Ms Witheridge, a project manager, said it was just after 10.30am yesterday when she was shot in the head in a car-park in the south of Beirut while on a trip with friends. “We were on the beach and I noticed a man with a rifle on the back of a motorbike who was shadowing me,” Ms Witheridge told the Daily Mail. “This guy then pulled up alongside me and the man on the motorbike fired about six shots at me. The bullets went through the back of the car and hit me in the head. “The man pulled me out of the car and dragged me on to the road.” Ms Witheridge, who was wearing a pashmina, suffered a “traumatic” head injury and was airlifted to a hospital in the Lebanese capital. Speaking from her bed in a hospital intensive care unit, she said: “I’ve got six bullets in my body. The bullet in my shoulder was the easiest one to remove but it’s much more difficult when it goes through the head. It was scary and the experience has changed my views on travelling.” Her friends who were in the car with her said they were forced to return to the UK by “torture” at the hands of the terrorists.
